312/Mr. Heim
Case - Timothy N. Pfeiffer,
Subject - Homicide, New Brunswick, N.J.,
Operative - 312.

November 9, 1922. Continuing on the above matter, Operative proceeded to the plant of the International Motor Co., New Brunswick, N.J., arriving there at 6.45 a.m. Operative interviewed a Mr. Johnson who assigned Operative to laboring work.

While at work in the above mentioned Plant, Operative became acquainted with a fellow by the name of Fred Heim.

Mr. Heim told Operative that his (Heim's) wife and Rinehart's wife's mother were sisters. Mr. Heim informed Operative that Rinehart did not work for the International Motor Co. any longer, and that he was quite sure that Rinehart was working across the river at Blowin's. Mr. Heim described Rinehart to Operative as being a funny sort of a fellow, and that he is heretoday and there tomorrow. From Heim's conversation Operative was of the opinion that he does not care very much for Rinehart.

After quitting work in the evening, Operative proceeded to his room changed his clothes and then became located at the railroad station. While at the railroad station Operative observed several reporters taking notes, and Operative overheard the following remarks:- "Well, it looks as though Mrs. Hall is in for it, they seem to have the goods on her." Another reporter answered, saying, "Oh, Mott is just trying to make the Public believe that he is doing something, I, myself, would not put any stock into it." The reporter then left, and another one remarked, "Well you wait, you will see something tomorrow that will surprise you." Several of the reporters then boarded the 9.15 p.m. train for New York, while possibly five or six others remained about the station and were overheard to say that they were going to stay in town all night, as there might be something doing.

Shortly after the departure of the above mentioned train, the reporters who had remained at the station, proceeded to and entered the Walker
